Monday, Auguſt 11*th*, 1746. [Numb. 646.]

BRISTOL, April 21.

THIS Afternoon arrived here the Alexander Privateer, with the Solebay Man of War, Capt. Bury late Commander, and two ſmall Homeward bound Martinico Veſſels, which laſt ſhe took off Port Louis. The Solebay had paſſed by the Alexander, and was come to an Anchor in St Martin's Road under a ſmall Fort, when fifty Men of the Crew of the Alexander boarded her, cut her Cables, and brought her out to Sea. The Alexander is a Ship of about 200 Tons, 20 Guns ſix Pounders, and 150 Men. The Solebay had 22 nine Pounders, and 230 Men, who were ſtruck with ſuch a Pannick upon being ſo reſolutely boarded by the 50 Men above mentioned, that they all run under Deck.

Admiralty Office, April 26. The Defiance, commanded by Capt. Powlett, was taken and ſent into Plymouth, a French Man of War call'd the Ambuſcade, of 44 Guns, and 365 Men: The Engagement was on the 21ſt, and laſted two Hours, in which the Ambuſcade had 26 Men kill'd and wounded; and the Defiance had only 1 Man kill'd and 3 wounded. She is a new Ship, and longer by the Keel, and as broad on the Deck as the Defiance.

London, April 29. We are aſſured, that the great Slaughter made of the Rebels in the laſt Battle, was owing not only to the Knowledge which the King's Forces had of the Pretender's Orders to the Rebels not to give Quarter, but to the Obſtinacy of the Rebels, who, as they lay wounded on the Ground, fired many Piſtol ſhot at the Soldiers as they paſs'd by them, which obliged the latter for their own Security to diſpatch them out of the Way; notwithſtanding which, and the treacherous Behaviour of ſome of the Rebels, who after Quarter given fired at the Officers who had given it, many were ſpared, and above 500 made Priſoners.

Yeſterday both Houſes of Parliament voted congratulatory Addreſſes to his Majeſty, and their Thanks to his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, for his important Services in ſubduing the Rebels.

We hear, that in a Bill is ordered for calling any ſuſpected Perſons, whoſe Eſtates or principal Reſidence are in Scotland, to appear at Edinburgh, or where ſhall be thought convenient, and find Bail for their good Behaviour.

On Thurſday laſt, his Excellency the Earl of Cheſterfield, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, landed at Parkgate.

On Saturday laſt a Grant paſſed the Great Seal unto Henry McCulloch, Eſq; of the Office of Clerk of the Navy Office of his Majeſty's Iſland of Cape Breton, in North America, during Pleaſure.

The Young Mary, from Carolina, is taken by the French, and carried into St. Malo's.

There are 12 Pieces of Cannon, 24 Pounders, put on board a Ship at the Tower, with a conſiderable Quantity of Powder, Ball, &c for Cape Breton.

Extract of a Letter from Briſtol, April 26

ON Monday laſt the Alexander Privateer, Capt. Phillips, arrived in Kingroad with Two Prizes, a Brigt. and a Snow, Homeward bound from Martinico, and the Solebay Man of War, a 28 Gun Ship, which he cut out of St. Martin's Road, and brought off with above 200 Men, and a great Quantity of Bale-Goods on board, being ordered as Convoy to ſome Ships bound to Martinico.—The Particulars of this Affair, which is one of the boldeſt and beſt conducted Actions we have heard of ſince the War, are as follows.—Capt. Phillips having, on the 9th Inſtant, parted from his two Prizes off Belleiſle, in Chaſe of other Ships, the laſt of which proving a Scotchman, brought him within Sight of two Sail, which he took to be Merchantmen, off of St. Martin's, to whom he alſo gave Chace, and came up with juſt as they were entering that Road. Capt. Phillips, after taking a diſtinct View of the Place, and ſeeing there were no other Ships of War in the Road, reſolved to attack them, but not having Sea-room to engage, thought proper to let them come to an Anchor in the Road. His Men, unwilling to embark in ſuch a hazardous Enterprize, were generally unwilling to go on, but being encouraged by the Captain, and made ſenſible that the Undertaking was ſafe and feaſible, at laſt conſented. He then, after making proper Diſpoſitions, ſtood into the Road under French Colours; but being to attack to Windward, was obliged to make two or three Tacks before he could come up with the largeſt of the two Ships, the Prize aim'd at. When up, the Captain order'd to grapple and board on the Bow, and threw in 50 Men arm'd each with a Piſtol, Pole axe, and Cutlaſs, and at the ſame Time gave them two Vollies of ſmall Arms from the Alexander's Crew on board, which put the Enemy into great Confuſion, and obliged them to retire down under the Quarter Deck, where having Arms at Hand, they began to fire briskly upon the Alexander's Men, which the Captain perceiving jumped down upon the Main Deck, and order'd 5 Guns to be fired into them, which did good Execution, and ſo terrified them, that they immediately ſurrender'd. The Alexander loſt 3 Hands, and the Enemy Ten.

Extract of a Letter from a Captain in the late Sir Robert Munro's Regiment, to a Captain at Newcaſtle, dated April 17.

YESTERDAY we had the bloodieſt Battle with the Rebels that ever was fought in the Memory of Man. In the Morning we march'd from Nairn, and met the Gentry about Noon near Culloden, the Lord Preſident's Houſe, where we cannonaded each other for ſome Time; at laſt the Rebels advanced againſt the Left of our Line, where was Barrel's Regiment and the late Sir Robert Munro's (now Col. Dejean's); Barrel's behaved with intrepid Bravery, but was obliged to give Way to the rapid Torrent that bore down upon them; their whole Force then fell upon the Left of ours, where I had the Honour to command the Grenadier Platoon; our Lads fought more like Devils than Men; in ſhort we laid (to the beſt of my Judgment) about 1600 dead on the Spot, and finiſh'd the Affair without the Help of any other Regiment. You may judge of the Work, for I had 18 Men kill'd in my Platoon. I thank God I eſcaped free, but my Coat had ſix Balls through it. I muſt now tell you, that in the midſt of the Action, the Officer that led on the Camerons, called to me to take Quarters, which I refuſed, and bid the Rebel Scoundrel advance; he did, and fired at me, but providentially miſſed his Mark: I then ſhot him dead, and took his Piſtol and Dirk, which are extremely neat. The French have all ſurrender'd themſelves Priſoners of War: We have taken their Cannon and Baggage; Lords Kilmarnock and Cromarty are among the Priſoners of Diſtinction. Our Regiment had ample Revenge for the Loſs of our late Colonel, Sir Robert, and the reſt of our Officers, whom the Scoundrels murdered in cold Blood; but (as I told Lord Kilmarnock) we had ample Revenge in hot: For I can with great Truth aſſure you, not one that attacked us eſcaped alive; for we gave no Quarters nor would accept of any. Our Regiment took three Stand of Colours. I now give you Joy of the Day; and be aſſured, never was a more compleat Victory gain'd. Our Goals are full of them, and they ſtill continue bringing them in by Hundreds.

P.S. This Moment 1000 Men are gone in queſt of the Pretender. I am juſt informed that above 4000 of the Rebels were ſlain in the Battle, beſides what fell in the Purſuit, and that near Inverneſs we took the Pretender's Coach, Plate, and Baggage, his Kitchen Furniture, and above 200 Chefts of Arms, 18 Pieces of Cannon, and all their Stores; which I believe will render the Rebels incapable of giving us Battle again, or ever disturbing the Tranquility of his Majesty's Dominions.

Extract of a Letter from a Serjeant of the Old Buffs to his Friend in Newcastle, dated Inverness, April 18.

WE have obtained a great and glorious Victory over the Rebels, who I must own, behaved with the greatest Resolution, to their Cost; but am sure, that Men were never repulsed with so much Vigour as they were: For the Battle began precisely a Quarter after Twelve, and lasted only 'till One, in which Time our Army kill'd between 2 and 3000 of the Rebels, besides Numbers coming in wounded; and our killed and wounded does not exceed 315 Men. We have taken Prisoners all the French Officers and Soldiers that were not killed in the Action, and the pretended French Embassador. We have also taken the Pretender's Coach and Baggage, his Plate, and his Kitchen Furniture, made in London; with above 200 Chests of Arms, 18 Pieces of Cannon, and all the Utensils belonging to them; which makes the Victory compleat, and will render the Rebels unable to give us Battle again, or disturb his Majesty's Dominions.

Extract of a Letter from Wolfe's Regiment at Inverness, April 18

BARREL's Regiment was hard wrought by the Rebels, who pushed all their Strength against them, and took 2 Pieces of Cannon from them; but our Regiment being ordered to flank the Rebels, we soon made the Place too hot for them, retook the Cannon, and took a great Number of Prisoners, more than we should have done, had we known their Orders, which was to spare neither Man, Woman, nor Child.

A Copy of the Rebels Orders before the Battle of Culloden Muir, Found in the Pocket of one of the Prisoners

Parvis. Roy Jaques.

"IT is his Royal Highness's positive Orders, that every Person attach himself to some Corps of the Army, and remain with the Corps Night and Day, until the Battle and Pursuit be finally over, and to give no Quarters to the Elector's Troops on no Account whatsoever. This regards the Foot as well as Horse. The Order of Battle is to be given to every General Officer, and every Commander of a Regiment or Squadron.

"It is requir'd and expected of each Individual in the Army, as well Officer as Soldier, that he keep the Post he shall be allotted; and if any Man turn his Back to run away, the next behind such Man is to shoot him.

"No Body, upon Pain of Death, is to strip the Slain, or plunder until the Battle is over. The Highlanders to be in Kilts, and no Body to throw away their Guns. Sign'd,

GEORGE MURRAY. Lt. General.

Philadelphia, July 24. On Sunday last the Rev Mr. Whitefield, preach'd twice, tho' apparently much indispos'd, to very large Congregations, in the New Building in this City, and the next Day set out for New York. When we seriously consider how incessantly this faithful Servant (not yet 32 Years old) has for above Ten Years past, labour'd in his great Master's Vineyard, with an Alacrity and fervent Zeal, which an infirm Constitution, still daily declining, cannot abate; and which have triumph'd over the most vigorous Opposition from whole Armies of invidious Preachers and Pamphleteers, under whose Performances the Pulpits and Presses of Great Britain and America have groaned, We may reasonably think with the learned Dr Watts, "That he is a Man raised up by Providence in an uncommon "Way, to awaken a stupid and ungodly World, to a Sense of "the important Affairs of Religion and Eternity." And the Lines of Mr. Wesley, concerning another young Methodist, may be justly applied to his dear Friend Whitefield,

"He sin'd in his Prime, he waited not for Noon,
"Convinc'd, that Mortal moon liv'd too soon;
"As if forbidding here his little Stay,
"He makes his Morning bear the Heat of Day.
"No fair Occasion glides unheeded by,
"Snatching the Golden Moments as they fly,
"He, by few fleeting Hours, ensures Eternity.

His Sermons here this Summer have given general Satisfaction, and plainly proved the Ability of the Preacher. His rich Fancy, sound and ripening Judgment, and extensive Acquaintance with Men and Books of useful Literature, have been acknowledged by every unprejudic'd Person, Purity of Language, Perspicuity of Method, a ready Elocution, an engaging Address, and an apt Gesture, peculiar to this accomplish'd Orator, conjoined with his unspotted Character in private Life, have added Force to the plain, strong, Arguments, and pathetick Expostulations, wherewith his Discourses abounded, and it cannot be doubted that many have been awakened to a Sense of the Importance of Religion, and many have been built up in their most most holy Christian Faith, under his Ministry.
